Don't replace it: Try carpet cleaning first!

Any carpet, from the most expensive ones to the economical ones, may need to be replaced at sometime. This can be a very expensive project to take on all at once so some choose a less costly solution as an optional strategy.

Dollars and sense

No matter how careful people are with their carpets, the inevitable stains will appear on them due to accidents, pets, children, or visiting guests. Most stains can be taken care of quickly, but not all stains can be removed effectively with household cleaners.

This ongoing deposit of stains on carpets will eventually make them appear old and worn. The continual daily tracking of dirt from the outside also makes bright looking carpets appear dull.

After a while the question comes up about replacing carpets, but unless they are literally falling apart at the seams, another way to approach this problem is to consider using a professional carpet cleaning service.

This alternative way not only makes good sense, it will save you a lot of cents when compared to the cost of replacing a carpet.

Let the Pros do it

5280 professional carpet cleaning services use state of the art equipment that can do wonders for making your carpets look cleaner and fresher, but these treatments also helps to remove pollen, mold, and other unseen pollutants which can be embedded into carpets.

It takes professional equipment to address these issues effectively, and this attention to detail will give you peace of mind that the job is done efficiently and effectively.

Especially hard stains to remove, such as wine, bleach, coffee or tea need specialized attention. The professionals know all about these and can offer remedies to help remove these stubborn stains.

Personalized service

A carpet is more than just a covering for the floor; it is part of the home where warm memories have taken place such as very young children or pets playing on the carpet, family or friends unwrapping their presents on special occasions, and people enjoying a relaxing moment listening to music from the sound system.

In some ways, carpets hold a lot of sentimental value for people, and the proper care for them is important in order to preserve the life of them for many more years to come.

5280 will care for your carpets with attention and respect, while giving you our commitment to provide personalized service, and to make certain that your carpets are cleaned to exacting professional standards.
